THE NORTH CENTRAL CAMERA CLUB COUNCIL

Where Names Become Faces and Faces Become Friends

Volume XL Number 1

September 2004

2004 N4C Convention Results

from Wilford Yoder, Iowa City Camera Club

I think everyone had a good time at the Convention. I think the final count on Registration was 110.

Last night was the first night of good sleep I had for about a month. No one knows the work that goes into putting on a convention until they have done it.

For more Convention News and List of Yearly Competition Winners, see pages 5-9.

New N4C President's Message

Hello, my name is Diane Darnielle. I would like to introduce myself. I work for the Iowa Department of Human Services in Des Moines, Iowa, which supports my avocation of photography. I have been a member of the Des Moines Camera Club (DMCC) since January 1996. I have held several offices in DMCC and in N4C have been Director #1, 1st Vice President, and now your President for the next year.

I want to say thank you to the Iowa City Camera Club (ICCC) for putting on an excellent N4C Convention

September 24th-26th. The 18 members of ICCC really came through and put together a wonderful convention! Those who attended the convention enjoyed the photo shoot on Friday and the programs on Saturday. There was a diversity of programs that provided many opportunities to learn new techniques or to consider how to do something differently than how we have always done it.

N4C NEWS NOTES

POTPOURRI

The Ames Camera Club met in September to present its annual "Potpourri of Photography." Club members shared their favorite photographic subject(s). Each person shared up to 3 images (slides, prints and/or digital format) or presented a 5-minute slide essay.

—ACC Leading Lines

NEW PROJECTOR

The Central Iowa Camera Club recently purchased a digital projector. Based on the investigation of a knowledgeable member of the Minnesota Valley Photography Club, a BenQ model PB6200 was recommended.

Ken Johnson verified through other sources and web reviews that this was a highly rated projector and was the best value available. What made it so attractive was its 1700 lumen brightness, XGA (1024x768) resolution, and free spare bulb rebate (a $399 value). The projector was priced at $1,499.99 plus shipping.

The projector was delivered in time for demonstration at the June 10 CICC meeting. Several members furnished a variety of images to demonstrate the projector's capabilities. Members agreed that the color and sharpness of the images was outstanding, and everyone was well pleased with the quality.

—CICC Sharp Focus

TRIPLET FAWNS

Darlene Kutzler of the Huron Area Photography Club has missed photo opportunities three times. She has a doe with triplet fawns in an area south of her place. With no camera, she and her grandson watched the three little spotted babies galloping along behind their mom as they crossed a road. The next time the deer disappeared into a tree patch before they could be snapped. The next time the deer were going the other way. Darlene says the triplets are "real cute."

WINNERS

Lincoln Area Agency on Aging awards the best photographs taken by younger or older amateur photographers of younger and older people together.

Bradley Moser won 1st place in the People's Choice category with his entry "Grandfather's Pride", and Clark Springman won HM with his, "Buddies".

—LCC Lincoln Camera Club Bulletin

SUMMER STORM

This is an interesting part of Gary Renier's e-mail:

"We have had a wild summer. Then two weeks ago a tornado went through our lake cabin. We lost a portion of the roof and nine big trees in the front yard, to say nothing of the back yard and back lot. " T h e r e were nine cottages that really took the brunt of the damage, but fortunately no one was hurt. My wife generally stays at the lake during the summer but was home that week - she was rather glad to be in the comfort of our Fargo home.

"My boat escaped with only minor scratches, but the glass from the picture window just cut through everything inside, including chairs, carpet, counter tops, kitchen cabinets and even one piece went through the side of the refrigerator. Unbelievable, that no one was hurt."

GRAND EXCURSION PHOTOGRAPH

Two members of the North Metro Photo Club had their pictures in the St. Paul Pioneer Press for taking pictures of the Grand Excursion when it was in Saint Paul the later part of June. Donna Glasgow and John Blasingame were photographed while they were at Indian Mounds Park with their cameras and tripods.

A lot of great photographs. Great subject matter. A lot of these photos should be entered in upcoming contest.

Some ties which were broken by discussion. Scores were not changed.

Entrants need to be sure to label the back of prints properly as to Class A or B - Nature or B/W.

NATURE PRINTS

CLASS B

- 1st - "Khutzeymateen Valley"
Dave Brown, Minn Valley
- 2nd - "Jackson Moose"

- HM - "Old Watch & Rose"
Steve Paulson, Sioux City

There were 20 prints entered by 8 clubs. The judging club was the Cheyenne Camera Club. The judges were Cal Truax, Ed Reeve, and Edwin Carlson. The judging committee chairman was Judy Berkley.

Two clubs sent us the entries for Nature A&B and B&W.

Lots of good photos with interesting techniques—wish we could have explanations for how some were done. Some digital prints were easy to spot since makers missed some spots in joining images.

All members present shared comments and questions. More experienced members answered as best we could on techniques known to someone. An enjoyable evening.

There were 24 slides entered by 8 clubs. The judging club was the Women's Color Photo Club. The judges were Jean McDonough, Thelma Beers, and Michelle Burkstrand. The judging committee chairman was Jan Huijbregtse.

Nice group of slides. It was too bad we could not justify judging two of them because they did not fit the category. It would be great if clubs would encourage more members to involve themselves in this category, because the results can be exciting!

CONTEMPORARY/CREATIVE PRINTS

- 1st - "Taos Church Derivation #1"
Morris Gildemeister, Kaposia
- 2nd - "IR Windmill"
Bob Gillespie, Sioux City
- 3rd - "Goblets"

Connie Walstrom, Sioux City

- HM - "Rainbow Falls"
Bob Rude, Iowa City

There were 20 prints entered by 6 clubs. The judging club was the Women's Color Photo Club. See above.

The good prints were very good, but some were not. In fact, it may be advisable for members to be encouraged to read the definition of Contemporary so as to adhere more directly to the category.

PHOTOJOURNALISM PRINTS

- 1st - "Touchdown Catch"
Bob Rasmus, Sioux City
- 2nd - "Visit to the Zoo"
Francis Kingsbury, Sioux City

CLUB MEMBERS

Lynda Richards, Treasurer, has a new Request for Payment form which she would like people to use.

Club N4C dues are due.

Bob Rude has been appointed Co-Chairman of the Founders' Award Committee for a five-year term.

Motion carried: "To include Photo-Travel Prints, maximum size 16x20, along with Photo-Travel Slides, to be judged by the same club beginning September 2005, to be re-evaluated in one year."

Mary Jane Charlton reported on the new N4C Handbook. Added to the N4C Handbook this year: A Help page, a Supply Order form, a codicil for a will, Founders' and Service Award forms, and a Club Information form. All forms may now be filled out on the computer and e-mailed directly to the proper person.

2004-2005 Officers were elected by unanimous ballot. 40 ballots mailed out; 28 returned. No write-in votes.

Springbrook, usually held on the first weekend in May, will be held on Friday, April 29, Saturday, April 30, and Sunday, May 1, 2005.

The 2005 N4C Convention September 8, 9, 10, 11 at the Holiday Inn South in Des Moines. Two days of field trips are planned - the Bridges of Madison County, and the Living History Farm.

2004 N4C CONVENTION NOTES

Reported by Grace Schrunk

Linda and Robert Scarth from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, gave an excellent talk and slide show about the wonders of nature. They both have been serious photographers for the past 20 years. They had lived in Australia for seven years before coming to live in Iowa. They had not planned to live there permanently, but they liked everything about Iowa and decided to stay.

They use 50 or 100 Fuji film, but not for long—a complete Canon digital camera outfit will be delivered to their home on Tuesday after the convention. There is a saying that goes, it is easier to turn a naturalist into a nature photographer, than to turn a photographer into a nature photographer.

They both tend to agree with that statement.

Tom Boysen, a dermatologist from Coralville, Iowa, for the past 17 years, has been an underwater photographer for the past five years. In 9th grade he was the school photographer plus he was on the swim team. It was just natural to take up scuba diving, which he did 10 years ago. His wife Roxanne also scuba dives, but does not do underwater photography.

He showed us beautiful photos of fish and coral from various places around the world. The slide show consisted of underwater shots from the Caribbean, Central America, Grand Cayman Island and Hawaii. He said the British Virgin Islands, in his opinion, is the prettiest place on earth. Around every turn the scenery looks like a postcard.

Tom uses a manual Nikonos and a flash unit. The Nikonos is made from cast iron, rubber "O" rings and screws. It is not a matter of time if a camera will flood, but when. He has had one camera flood already. His photos are taken at a 3-5 foot range at 80 to 95 feet down.

He would like to go to the coral reef of the coast of Australia, but with teenage sons at home and a wife who doesn't want him to go, he won't be going there for awhile anyway.

Clay Smith, a DNR employee for the state of Iowa, travels to the four corners of the state doing video and still photography. He started his photography career when he was 12 years old and there was a big snow storm in Des Moines, Iowa. He used his mother's Instamatic camera to capture the big snow banks and the snow plows coming through the town.

He has had many ups and downs during his career, including selling his favorite camera to stay alive. He would work for the State of Iowa for nothing, but the State insists on paying him for what he enjoys doing so much.

Some of the places Clay recommended for shooting was Dunning Springs outside Decorah, the Quaker Mill upstream from Manchester, and the waterfalls at Beeds Lake.

Dr. Chuck Huss has attempted Mount Everest three times. He has been close to the top, but hasn't made it yet. He plans on trying again in 2006.

To climb Mount Everest you need to make an application to the country of Nepal at a cost of $10,000. The climb can only be done at a certain time of year, April 1st until May 15th. 1,000 people pay the fee to climb and 250 climbers make it.

There are five members to a team. It cost $40,000 for supplies to make the climb if you put the supplies together, $70,000 if someone else does it. Dr. Huss sent over 1500 pounds of food for the trip.

He has been to the 4th level two times, which is 100 feet from the Summit. Dr. Huss got very ill both times when he was so close to the summit.

A Shirpa native from Nepal who assists on these trips has been to the summit 14 times.

Dr. Huss told the story of a man who reached the summit, reached for his digital camera and the battery failed. Chuck said, "I use a manual camera so I don't have to worry about my camera not failing."

CONVENTION QUOTES

Reported by Case Hegeman

Quotes from Linda & Robert Scarth (former members of Iowa City C.C.):

1. You have to have the desire to see the world even in your own back yard.
2. It's easier to turn a naturalist into a photographer than to turn a photographer into a naturalist.

Quotes from Tom Boysen, who does underwater photography and is a dermatologist:

1. I don't want to spend time at the beach and get sunburned and then have to see my patients.

Quotes from Clay Smith, Iowa DNR photographer:

1. Technology: is it worth it? (When having problems setting up his digital projector.)
2. No, you can't have my job. ( He loves his job and gets paid for it).
3. "All my life I've been hooked on scenery."

Quotes from Roger Christian (owner of Christians' camera store in Iowa City):

1. Iowa has eight major camera stores.
2. Three Iowa camera stores are named Christian.
3. Reasons photography is where it is today:
  1. Leica M3.
  2. Tri-X Film.
  3. Nikon-F series cameras from 1959 through the 1970's.

New President's Message

We also had the opportunity to adventure travel vicariously through the programs on underwater photography and climbing Mt. Everest. I don't plan on deep sea diving or climbing mountains, but those were very interesting and entertaining programs. And for those who live in Iowa, the DNR photographer's program opened eyes regarding the photographic opportunities right here in our own state. Thank you, Iowa City Camera Club, for providing programs that we all walked away from having learned a thing or two.

I would like to congratulate all who had photo entries in what I think of as the "Best of the Best" in the N4C competition categories. We were all treated to some excellent images that ran the full gamut of quiet to wonder to excitement. I think we all appreciated being able to see these great photos, and felt inspired to go out and shoot, shoot, shoot. Also, my congratulations to the makers of photos whose print or slide received a medal or honorable mention certificate. But really, everyone was a winner!

Best of all, it was great to see and visit with everyone! I hope everyone enjoyed the convention and let ICC members know they had done a great job! N4C truly is a group where "Names Become Faces and Faces Become Friends". See you all at Springbrook, and in the meantime I will keep in touch through the newsletter.
